

Although your journey with us will come to an end, the journey of your soap bar has just begun.

We believe in doing our part to improve the health and well-being of those in need.

That's why we proudly donate partially used soap bars to Eco-Soap Bank, a humanitarian initiative that collects, sanitizes, and distributes soap to local schools and rural communities that need it.

Though it may seem like a small gesture, your partially used soap bars will play a part in fighting preventable illnesses in this country.

To follow these soap bars on their journey – and to learn how you can get involved – you can visit Eco-Soap Bank's website at ecosoapbank.org.
